

Wellness Warehouse goes paperless

Wellness Warehouse has decided to conduct its business via online and will no longer use paper to communicate its monthly deals.

The paperless approach is part the company's journey towards implementing sustainable practices in its business.

The company's customers may now browse, learn what is trending and choose between products with a click of a button.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>