

Upgrade offer from Quark

As a special offer until 31 January 2012, Quark has announced that its current QuarkXPress customers can upgrade to QuarkXPress 9. The offer applies to all current and prior users on versions 3-7 for the standard upgrade price, which is typically applied to upgrades from version 8.

The new version is said to advance the way designers work by adding new functionality that increases productivity and that enables the creation of content that can be published to digital devices. Now, without programming code, designers can create and publish to iPad apps, as well as create content for e-readers, smartphones and other tablets.

To work faster and smarter, designers can now also call on features that automate design processes that are typically manual and time-consuming.
