

See: Zolani Mahola leads a beach clean-up at Muizenberg

On 18 June 2021, Zolani Mahola, Sea Change Project ambassador and award-winning musician and actor led a team of eco-activists, personalities and conservation influencers for a beach clean-up at Muizenberg, Cape Town, joining Corona's international movement to fight marine plastic pollution in recognition of Ocean's Month.

So far, Corona has conducted over 1,400 clean-ups, engaging over 68,000 volunteers, and collecting plastic waste from more than 44 million square meters of beach worldwide.

For more information about this project visit Plastic Reality's website.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>