

Fine joins the GlobalHealthPR global network

Independent healthcare communications consultancy Fine has joined GlobalHealthPR's global network. Fine will help strengthen GlobalHealthPR's strategic presence in South Africa and across Africa, helping to address increased client demand for deep insights and seamless execution across the diverse markets in the region.

The GlobalHealthPR network delivers local, regional and global healthcare communications expertise through carefully-selected partner agencies that choose to work together based on shared values, independence and flexibility.
