

American Chamber of Commerce South Africa elects Phillipine Mtikitiki as its president

Phillipine Mtikitiki, vice president of Coca-Cola's South Africa franchise, has been elected president of the American Chamber of Commerce South Africa (AmCham). She will succeed General Electric CEO, Lee Dawes. Mtikitiki was previously co-vice president of AmCham.

Mtikitiki was born in Mpumalanga and has a BA in economics from KwaZulu-Natal and an MBA from Henley Business School.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>