

Axiz partners with DataVoice

Axiz, an information technology value-added distributor, has partnered with DataVoice - a Cisco development partner offering a powerful voice recording solution for Cisco telephony systems.

Source: pixabay.com

The partnership enables Axiz to increase the value of its Cisco voice solution with a more comprehensive offering and bolster its already strong and diverse Cisco reseller base.

DataVoice is an OEM that develops specialised interaction recording and management solutions into a variety of segments within international markets. Paul Fick, managing director at DataVoice says that due to legislation like the POPI Act, the demand for quality voice recording solutions is ever increasing.

“Our partnership with DataVoice is particularly exciting as it presents an opportunity to deliver even better services and provide access to the world’s IT products and solutions from leading global brands. DataVoice see Axiz as the leading Cisco distributor in its target markets with highly skilled technical resources,” says Tony Singh, Cisco pre-sales technical manager at Axiz.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>